WASHINGTON, March 19 .- "Good and patient Lord, slow to wrath and so slow to punish, deliver me from the political sycophant," exclaimed ex-Commissioner of Patents Butterworth this afternoon. "The clerks in the departments become trimmers very quickly," continued Butterworth, "and soon occupy much of their time in running their little ships on popular breezes. It is a pitiable sight to see a man who has to lie. crawl, betray friend and deny his Christ, simply to hold office or secure promotions " "What have you in view?" your corra-spondent asked. "Well, think of how Commissioner of Pensions Clark crawled and bagged to be retained; denied his politics; petrayed his political friends: made overtures to his enemies: tried to manipulate the employes in the office, all to be kept in the place, It was so disgusting that the Democrats, after using him sgainst Dudley, threw him overboard. Now he is a castaway and can't get into either party, and we are all glad of it, men in all parties. There was Dyrenforth, who was Deputy Commissioner of Patents through a long term of Republican rule, who tried the reversible change and played Democrat to get the Commissionership. The fact that he retained his place under Republican administration by striving to sympathize and aid that party was enough, and he was quickly superceded. It does my heart good to see the Democrats weeding them out, and I will guarantee that if all of these thousands of sycophants are dumped out there will be no fuss made by Republicans on civil service ground. The good men are few, and ought to be retained. If only the deserving men are kept in their places the WASHINGTON, March 19 .- "It's very bad weather when the average Senator doesn't take care of his committee clerk," observed a member of that body to-day, "Of the twenty or thirty committees not having annual clerkships," continued he, "only not vided for by some scheme. The majority of them have had resolutions adopted authorizing the committees to sit during recess; others will go on investigating trips. All of these schemes contemplate pay for the clerks during the recess of Congrees, lasting nine months nearly. It is indeed inclement when the average Senator doesn't catch onto these schemes." Indianians at the Capital.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS. Action of the Senate in Executive Session-Ordered to the United States of Colombia, Etc.

WASHINGTON, March 19 .- The Senate in executive session ratified the treaty with the Khedive of Egypt and the convention relative to the boundary lines between this country and Mexico. The treaty with the Khedive extends to the United States Congress the privileges which Great Britain enjoys by virtue of a treaty between Egypt and Greece, made about a year ago. The treaty with Mexico recognizes the authority of the international law in the settlement of disputes which may occur over the changing of the bad of the Rio Grande River. Rear Admiral Janett, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, to-day telegraphed Commander Clark, of the Alliance, at New Orleans, instructing him to proceed to Carthagena, United States of Colombia, and protect American interests in that country during the present disturbed condition of affairs. The dispatch informs Commander Cark that vessels belonging to American citizens which had been seized by the insurgents without compensation may be forci-bly recovered, and says United Magdalens Steam Navigation Company, of New York, has called the attention of the Secretary of State to the selzure of their steamers by an armed force. The Secretary of the Treasury has issued ernor of Kansas, for expenses incurred by that State in repelling Indian invasions.

A number of nominations were sent to the Capitol to day, but arrived after the adjournment of the Senate. It is understood they consisted of appointmentment under the State Department, but the particulars were not disclosed. Prominent Tennessee Democrats assert, however, that ex-Congressman Atkins was named in the list as Commissioner of Indian affairs, Maryland, was sworn in to-day. Mr. Miller will take formal possession of the Internal Revenue Bureau to-morrow. In executive session Senator Sherman offered a resolution providing for the appointment of two Sepators to wait upon the President and inform him unless he had some further communication to make the Senate was ready to adjourn without day.

In the Court Martial to-day, General Hazen's friends manifested their sympathies with him, not only by their presence, but by leading the table at which he and his counsel sat, with baskets of choice cat flowers. Judge Mackey opened the argument for the defense, and in discussing the indorsement of the Secretary of War upon the letter of General Hazen, said that "such was the heat and temper of the Secretary of War upon questions relating to arctic work, that even upon the subject of ice, upon the question of an iceberg, the honorable Secretary could not keep cool." The court declined to hear any far ther argument upon the subject of indorse ments. Judge Mackey protested against the decision. The protest was entered and the court adjourned Archbishop Gibbons, of Baltimore, called at the Executive Mansion by appointment this afternoon in company with R. T. Merrick, and was by the latter presented to President Cleveland, who received them in the Blue Parlor. After a pleasant conversa tion of half an hour the Archbishop took his leave, receiving from the President a cordial invitation to repeat the call.

GENERAL GRANT.

A Consultation by His Physicians Regarding the Desirability of an Operation -Ris General Condition.

NEW YORK, March 19 -The following will appear in the Medical Record of March 21: During the past week the local disease of General Grant has shown no marked tendency toward progressive ulceration. At the recent weekly consultation, Dr. Fordyce Barker was unavoidably absent. Drs. J. H. Douglass, Henry B. Sands and George F. Shrady, who were present, made a thorough examination of the General's throat, with a view to discussing the expediency of a surgical operation for the removal of the growth. Such a measure will involve a diversion of the lower law in the median line and extirpation of the entire tongue, and a greater part of the soll palste, together with the removal and incurated glandular structures under the right angle of the lower jaw. This was considered mechanically possible, despite the close proximity and the prebable involvement of the tissues adjoining the large arteries and veins in the neighborhood of the ulcerations; but in the best interests of the distinguished patient, his surgeons did not feel inclined to reccommend such a procedure. Even by such means there could be no guarantee, in view of the extensive infeltration. that the limits of the disease could be reached without the immediate risk to his life by a seven shock to his constitution, already much enfeebled.
His low vital power is such a strong element in the decision that for the present, at least, no kind of an operation will be undertaken. The ulceration on the side of the tongue has not progressed far enough to produce the usual intolerable pain associated with that condition, but five months, and eight to ten such agents be | should the latter symptom appear it may be deemed advisable to divide the gustatory nerve. The general tone of the patient's symptoms remain about the same as at the last report, notwithstanding he has suffered with insomnia. The atter in the last day or two has been kept under control by a suitable anodyne.

> Arother Statement of the Case. PHILADELPHIA, March 19 -The Philadel.

phia Medical News of this week will say, editorially, concerning the disease from which General Grant is suffering:

Lingual epithelioma, as a rule, rapidly pro-gresses toward a fatal termination. When left to itself the life of a patient from the first appearance of the disease varies, in accordance with the esti mates of different observers, from 10,5 to 13 months, the average being 11.7 months. Death ensues, first, from the generalization of the disease; secondly, from septic pneumonis-from the inhalation of putrid emanations, which result from the decomposition of the products of the ulcerated surface; thirdly, from starvation, through pressure of the affected lymphatic glands and surrounding parts upon the esophagus, thereby interfering with diglutition, and lastly f.om hemorrhage, proceeding from ulcerated ingual arteries or vessels of the neck. The duration of life of 'hose who survive the operation averages nineteen months. Not only does operative interference prolong life and relieve suffering, but it effects a final cure in 14 per cent of all cases. In attaining these results t must, however, be remembered that an incision of the tongue is attended with a mortality of 25 per cent, the principal dangers being the shock, hemorrhage cedeto of the glottis, septic lung affection. pyremela and erysipelas, some of which risks can ge avoided by taking careful precautions during the operation, and by adopting antiseptic measures during and after the procedure. When, in addition to the disease of the tongue itself, the palate and the tonsil are involved, the prognosis is far more grave, whether the disease be permitted to pursue its unaided course or whether it be subjected to the knife. In the latter event not only will the tongue have to be extirpated, but the disease of the palate and tonsil will have to be reached.

So far as we can learn there is no example of the performance of the double operation on record, and it is, in our opinion, not justifiable.

Br. Douglas' Report.

New York, March 19 .- After a visit to General Grant, to night, Dr. Douglas said: The General slept seven hours continuous. ly last night. He was very well through the day. He asked for roast mutton and ate it. During the afternoon and evening the General revised enough of his books to keep the printers busy threa days. When I left the General to-night he was inclined to sleep. The patient's throat looks better this evening. It has not the angry appearance it has had. There was a catarrabl difficulty in the morning that caused gagging, but no bad results. Coacine is not now being used and there is no pain. It is mental occupation that renders the General wakeful."
